

A Note For Corrections- They take time to fine tune and require a bit of mental motivation which is hard for me, please be patient and encouraging as I try to fine tune the work to the state of perfection. The first eight poetry books have been corrected, as well as five of the earlier written and later typed. The work is at about 99.9% when typed and it just takes me to proof read and correct the .01%.
The typing of this work which is done outside, it is a very high standard and so I only have to skim over to final check, but this does take time and bare with me on this. Thanks Darel.

Thanks:- Cheif Editor, Darel.
