

More who and what you need when you need when you want to have it,

More time and money coming for what and why you sit;

More where and ways it will happen and which to wait a bit,

More flying over mountains and rainbows for who and what being fit.

More who and what to do and whether it was you,

More things and people buying and bought to be held true;

More books in houses for reading and leading who and what,

More things I can remember and not the things that I forget.

More who and what to eat with and always finding nice food,

More beautiful in the making and the taking turns makes move my mood;

More or less of loving and living on earth for free,

More looking to God above and more meaning for you and me.

More who and what to write and to teach and be taught to,

More cleaning understanding and clearing the minds new view;

More history being made and places and people all pass by,

More wisdom for the knowledge for living not to die.

More wonder in the air of special things to come about,

More who and what will bother and you're little brother doubt;

More mission for the people to see their way along the path,

More for heat and work and all the sweat to have a bath.

More who and what will matter and look out up to God,

More fashion and food on the table and all that's lucky, not odd;

More who and what for plenty and anything else you like,

More vision and comprehension for who and what is real life.

Signed,

My headache