

I got up and got dressed and now I'm ready to go,

So I sat down to write this wondering the words to know;

I put on my shirt and trousers and socks, belt and shoes,

After I had a shower and watched the early television news.

The stories were terrible and I was so badly damned depressed,

As I actually never thought about having a shower and getting dresses;

The church was in waiting and the money I saved to go,

I had to wait till I watched to see what I really needed to know.

So now I am ready after going through all the religious routine,

Of watching, waiting and writing for the church created scene;

The channel and the station really couldn't care if I saw or knew,

Because what they were saying was what they really wanted to do.

And the thing about it is that no matter how much you have to wait,

You can never really have it, that it is really not what you really want;

But you sit down there on purpose, to listen to what they say,

Now know it was better getting dressed because they really wanted me to pay.

Of course you know it is all prerecorded so the plan for you to watch,

Is the program from last week with the future for today you want,

But what you really get is what they want to give and say,

So that the all important message is understood by all, all day.

And each one has a meaning after getting out of bed awake,

That the night you slept unconsciously could have been somebody else's mistake,

Because the dreams of something new while sleeping on the other side of earth,

Is like getting dressed each morning and making the first thing you do worth.
