

If it comes from the heart it is real and true,

A passionate belief that love is deep and ocean blue;

And the head is in the heavens when the sky is blue to,

A feeling is perfection just to kiss and hold hands with you.

.

If it comes from the heart it is the power of paradise,

That my life is given freely in a worthy case of sacrifice;

For the beauty is receiving the reciprocal gazing look,

And you're soul is filled with meaning in the contents of a book.

.

If it comes from the heart it's right even when it's wrong,

For the longing and the loving is forgiveness to let live long;

So the magic is the money which hurts and pulls and becks,

To drag you under, running to beat and win treasure wrecks.

.

If it comes from the heart it's knowledge of pleasing peace,

Of unbeaten and unending learning of joy in good release;

And the cross is teaching courage to forever let it live on,

When the one on earth is doing and going back to birth.

.

If it comes from the heart it's clever, dumb and smart,

For on one hand you are winning and the other losing in part;

And when you face the nation fairly and look it in the eye,

The buildings rise to meet you, and the land and seeing see I.

.

If it comes from the heart it's brilliant to hold in the mind,

That the best is yet to be in the interest of being kind;

For in the depths he reached down from his kingdoms stars,

As it is God Almighty who has supplied the golden scars.

.

Signed,

Mine to Give