

My love is like an apple tree,

Growing fruit for you and me:

My love is like a golden heart,

Believing to be strong and smart.

My love is like a wonderland,

Of snow and ice and beauty grand;

My love is like a babbling brook,

Flowing and rhyming within a book.

My love is like a flower in summer,

A rose whose cent is perfect dumber;

My love is like a passion and romance,

In a fashion and style to stop and dance.

My love is like a look into your eyes,

Of goodness and grace right up to the skies;

My love is like a baby being born,

In need of care from danger to warn.

My love is like a mighty tower,

Whose strength and love are full of power;

My love is like a strong fortress,

Where God is king and gives address.

My love is like the everlasting life,

Whose accompanied by a loving wife;

My love is like a house called home,

On earth to live and comb and rome.

Signed,

Just for you.
