

Parsifal Over The Moon

INTRODUCTION

Leaving Planet Earth

Welcome to another book for you to get your teeth into and read. This one will take you into interplanetary travel, over the moon and right into heaven itself. Fasten your seatbelts because you are in for the ride of your life, with stars passing by at a thousand miles per hour, just to touch the surface. It is going to be a good one, despite the lack of wisdom as we transend into the zodiac and explore the mythological world of stargazing. There are great expectations and challenges in writing this book because it has been so long since I read anything on the zodiac, I will just be making it up as I go with some references to its truth from what I know and remember. As well as travelling around the universe looking for content to fill my pages and digest in the spaceship travel of mankind. We will also touch on the romantic side of moon love with it referring to the intimate romance of its self loving origen. Just to be near at the moment of conception, I can hardly wait to get into it, it just waits and begs for the romantic challenge of two lovers falling in love. The heavenlies await with intricit interest and ambitious desire to be involved with the cosmic world. We will explore the planets of our galaxy and solar system and see what relationship they have with our lives here on earth as we learn to recite poetry like a lunatic and instrumental lover. The sun just keeps on shining to lead the way with its golden guiding light which as we know reflects off the moon itself orbiting us as we go around and about the sun on earth and turn into bed at night, while the moon shines its silvery light to delight. For those who dare to sit in the car making love and passionate kisses by a lake or forest somewhere with the moonlight shining down to give that sense of a romantic moment. We will get into the nitty gritty and it is all just about here and yours to enjoy and indulge in as we get on with the job of writing this book and explore the fascinating detail of true love. God bless and stay tuned as we go into the spaceship now and blast off to set sail and land upon and travel around the moon. God bless you in your endeavours to follow and read this book. Yours faithfully once again. Darel.

CHAPTER 1 THE ZODIAC

1 Aries

This is my starsign;

The sign of the ram,

No head butting fool,

Not stubborn as a muel.

Yes a decision maker,

Impulsive at times;

Happy without care,

Just living on air.

Free to be only me,

Thoughts of myself;

Not much time for you,

People come and go.

Knows where their going,

Sure of themself to a point;

Makes love instinctively.

To some a romantic fool,

To others never left school;

Learning to reign and rule,

Better left to someone cool.

Trips and falls at times,

Loves going off on their own;

Needs people around to impress,

Loves living at their home address.

Signed,

Trying to be Independent.

2 Gemini

This is the twins,

Likes being rich;

The trick of the switch,

Staying out of the ditch.

Gems in their eyes,

Heaven in the skies;

More earthy of course,

Using up every resource.

Nice fragrents to smell,

Just staying out of hell;

God's test for them to sell,

If only they could spell.

Individual behaviour,

Cognitive thinkers;

Watch what they do,

Learning to love you.

Like minds think alike,

Riding tandem on a bike;

Love of their partners,

Careful to look after each other.

Beautiful personalities,

Not to judge on my honour;

Good moods come hard,

Easy to get along with.

Signed,

Same sex.

3 Taurus

Like a bull at a gate,

Focused on just one thing;

Many explorations of the mind,

Stubborn and relentless.

Aiming for the central point,

To hit the bulls eye every time;

Yet diverse and direct,

Pragmatic and dramatic.

Multicultural and linguistic,

Speaks many languages;

God's number seven,

Spirit focused and orientated.

On a level playing field,

What the market can yield;

Profit making and taking,

Good to be on your own for a while.

Purpose and poise,

Turquoise and noise;

Blood red anger,

Compassionate and relaxed.

The sign of the bull,

Registered to go,

At the sight of a red rag,

Mans temper overflows.

Signed,

Mad lover.

4 Cancer

Crabby and concerned,

Money that you earned;

Good at the bank,

Someone else to thank.

Mutation and order,

Many a splendid person;

Love comes easy to them,

Makes sure feet are on solid ground.

Got to have their own way,

Anyone else any time of day;

Making sure they are loved by their partners,

Marriage and the family a certainty.

Organising to suit themselves,

Read all the books on the shelves;

Love stories and romantics,

Don't get on their wrong side.

Making life good to work in,

Gaining what they can if possible;

Profits all in a days time,

Short term goals and plans.

Doesn't like living in the future,

Always leave the past behind;

Made for living in the moment,

No time like the present to compare.

Signed,

Pragmatic.

5 Leo

The sign of the lion,

Looks after her cubs;

Strong and virtuous,

Family very important.

Organising things,

Courage and compassion;

Not to be crossed at all,

Lends a caring heart.

Independent and loving,

Watching what is going on;

Don't get in their bad books,

Looking down and frowning looks.

Good with using money,

Sensitive and sensible;

Shows a guiding hand,

No fear in times of worry.

Works hard, never quits,

Stays on top of the situation;

Learns to be calm and relaxed,

Understands what life attracts.

Years of learning wisdom,

A tower of strength and courage;

Manges money like a bank,

Only has God to thank.

Signed,

Having vision.

6 Virgo

Sign of the virgin,

Saves themselves for only one;

Loyal to the end,

Good at making love.

Committed to the whole,

Looking in many directions;

Confirmed not to be lonely,

Responsible and attractive.

Honest to their friends,

Does not like being taken for a lend;

Good to get things back on the mend,

Forgot to send an e-mail, will resend.

Likes doing lots of nice things,

Plenty of jewelry and new rings;

Likes watching what they eat,

Good to be thin and on a steady diet.

Usually wants to be like others,

Indepenent, if to any of their lovers;

Must be true to themself though,

Wants to be read as to what they like.

Through the amber looking glass,

Sees things through rose coloured glasses,

Like staring at themself in the mirror.

Signed,

Essence of holiness.

7 Libra

The sign of the scales,

Everything in equal balances;

Must be fair and reasonable,

Certain to not have just one view.

Looking to see what others think,

Not impressionable, but instinctive;

The world is millions of years old,

Just another sign of their own time.

Things cost money and you must pay,

God to be rerasonable and understanding;

Logic seems to avoid their discussion,

Trying to be self centred in getting their own way.

Life often fails, make the best of it,

Money seems to be the central theme;

You can't blame anyone else for your mistakes,

Learn to live with things the way they are.

Change seems to be the hardest thing to do,

Makes short work of different things though;

Straight A's for all their assignments,

Top of the class in everything they do.

Hard making their way to get to the end of things,

Always finishes something that they start;

Accomplishment the name of the game,

Would always try to make a name for fame.

Signed,

Once living.

8 Scorpio

The sign of the scorpion,

With a real sting in their tail;

Don't get stung by their temper,

Get out of their way when offended.

Beautiful but stingy,

Learn not to hurt their feelings;

Watch out when turning your back on them,

The want to live a long time.

They make excellent lovers,

Just don't cross their hearts;

Hard to understand but study their minds,

Good students and learners.

Turns and links well with others,

Makes good fathers and mothers;

Kids must learn to do well at school,

Children must know their place in the house.

Short sharp looks and frowns,

Smiling in times of adversity;

Can't be trusted with your money,

Can be trusted with their own things.

Hides things from other people,

Very introverted and shy;

Until they come out of their closet and succeed,

Hard to get close and personal with.

Signed,

Good sense.

9 Sagittarius

Sign of the archer,

Like a centaur to see;

Half horse, half man,

Shoots a straight arrow.

Not offended very easily,

Affable and friendly;

Likes having people around,

Good to see and touch.

Personalities plus extras,

Always onside with others;

Looks good on the outside as well,

You just have to pay your cards right with them.

Time is always at hand,

Money in the bank is wise;

Trusts the truth, not evil,

Makes amends in time of trouble.

No time like the present,

Has faith in the future though;

Can tend to come from the past,

Knows that God's on earth to last.

Makes a good and faithful lover,

Talks like there is no tomorrow;

Real good communicators at heart,

Can talk the hat off a grey cat.

Signed,

Idealistic.

10 Capricorn

The sign of the goat,

Easily lead but independent;

Leaders up to a point,

They let go of things at the end.

Eat well, live well, as a note,

Watch out if you get caught behind them;

Your likely to get a but in the tail,

When you think your winning you fail.

You can get on well with them if you try,

But their selfish ambitions aim for the sky;

Get out of their way or you will get trodden on,

Though it is good to listen to their advise.

Wise words can never come truer from them,

Their realistic ideas often influence;

You can trust them as long as you can want to help them,

They depend on working with their own ideas.

They show signs of the kingdom of God,

Better to listen to them than others;

Lots of meaning in what they have to say,

You just have not got time to spend all day.

Can be trusted with their partners,

Showing love and encouragement to others;

Working hard to make the world a better place,

But need plenty of their own working space.

Signed,

Accomplishment.

11 Aquarius

Sign of the water carrier,

Wet ideas at centre of heart;

Maliabile and flexible most times,

Liquidity is very important to them.

Sailers and seamen,

Happier out at sea than on dry land;

Money not good to be tied up in assets,

Likes moving and travelling around.

Loves sitting on the beach relaxing,

Hard workers when it comes to the tough times though;

Easily motivated and dilligent,

Does not like getting tied up or down.

Most important thing in life is their work,

Good at nearly anything they turn their hand to;

Does not get tired or weary very easily,

Friends just seem to come and go with them.

Likes going on a long walk or mountain climbing,

Treats life like an adventure most of the time;

Pours out their heart on people,

They seem to have an unquenchable spirit.

Good to be around and get on with,

Time just not seem overly important to them;

Money in the bank is definitely a security,

Life is like light at the end of the tunnel.

Signed,

Water people.

12 Pices

Sign of the two fishes,

Well balanced but insecure;

Picks their way out of problems,

Times of trouble don't seem to last too long.

In and out of deep water,

Tries to get on well with others;

Needs other people around to make life worthwhile,

Good to have on your side not against you.

They wish that they could be like everybody else,

They are far too dependent on themselves, than be worried about others;

There is no time like the present so make the best of it,

Saves the best of their lives by caring about what happens to them.

Working hard to stay up to date with the latest news,

Good to stay up with late at night and then sleep well;

Time is of an essence but money seems very hard to get,

It seems right to always get to the bottom of things.

No care or concern about what might happen to them later,

Makes the most of the moment and ensures they get it right;

Best self driven and putting themselves first,

Seems to want to share experience with others though.

Wants to always go their own selfish way,

Not good for long lasting relationships;

The beauty of being is to enjoy what you are seeing,

Seems to drift in and out with different people.

Signed,

Pick and choose.

CHAPTER 2--STARS:-Nebulas and Clusters

13 See The Colour

Stars facinate me,

They are individulally different;

Splendour in their colours,

Auroras and rings to see.

Blues and greens,

And orange and red hues;

See the bright yellow shining,

Sunlike glowing in the sky.

Silver and gold,

Ever, ever brightening;

Flashing like lightning,

Swirls and misty skies.

Through the naked eye,

Or telescope for closer viewing;

One wonders how they got there,

Or have they always been.

To see the milky way,

Creams and pretty signs;

Pointing in different directions,

Through the looking glass of life.

The universe is a calidescope,

Of different blazing colours;

Watching to see the changes,

As subtle as lunch and seasons.

Signed,

Pink and purple.

14 What A Pretty Ring

What a pretty ring,

Let that big one sing,

Soft and gentle hues,

Glowing in the night.

What a pretty ring,

Saturn and its surroundings;

Rainbows of glowing light,

Flashing, craving all so right.

Bands of pretty colours,

Running around the planet;

Dust that reflects the light,

What a Godsend delight.

What a pretty ring,

Just another round thing,

Circling and orbiting the planet;

Metalic filtration and glowing,

Almost beyond human knowing.

Life on earth is taken for granted,

While we see these different planets;

With rings of refracted light,

Shining, showing in the night.

Rings of life and looking,

Surrounding and circling Saturn;

Beautiful and intricate designs,

Like a compass has drawn their picture.

Signed,

Wedding bands.

15 That One Has An Aura

That one has an aura,

How good it is to see;

Love for the lonely like me,

Beautiful colours so heavenly.

Different hues and shapes,

Formations and clusters;

Like a rainbow in the sky,

That ones heaven sent on high.

Like misty coloured shading,

Pastels and rich glowing glades;

Watch the aura changing,

From oranges to reds and greens.

Bright blues shining right,

Different colours in the night;

Gorgeous gracious sightings,

Displaying beauty all around.

Purples, pinks and crimson,

Floating, hovering together;

Looks of brilliant light,

Blending day and in the night.

The write of the poets license,

To collect and distribute auras;

Written for your information,

From different lands and outback stations.

Signed,

Glowing best.

16 How Many Are There

Billions upon billions together,

In any kind of different weather;

Up there wading in the universe,

Constellations and galaxies awaiting.

Try and discover the surroundings,

From extremities of the earth;

Taking up time in infinite space,

The eternal work of ancient grace.

See the beauty in the face of God,

Shining like a million suns at night;

Stars twinkling and sparkling till the dawn,

Waking up for you to take a big yawn.

White diamond lights shining in the black,

Perfect coloured thousands all different;

Changing as they dissapear and grow,

In the ever constant motion along in flow.

Endless trillions possibly, you may never know,

The universe expanding at a rate you can't say no;

The path beyond the here and now future,

You just have to follow the yellow brick road.

If you try to just keep on counting,

You may never reach the end of your time;

Its as if a zillion stars were a serious crime,

One or two too hard to finish in a rhyme.

Signed,

Eternal ways.

17 Star Formations

Star formations,

Clusters and nebula's;

Beauty and relevance,

Doing a different dance.

Star formations,

Looking like life;

Shapes and colours,

Figures and emblems.

Star formations,

Imagining pictures;

Just what they could be,

Southern Cross and Orion.

Star formations,

Join the dot puzzle;

See just what they make,

Zodiac and star signs.

Star formations,

Wondering carefully;

Who created these,

Those high up there.

Star formations,

Painting pretty patterns;

Colours rainbow hue,

God the mighty artist.

Signed,

Picking what.

18 How Lovely It Is

How lovely it is,

Beauty in a picture;

Shapes and signs,

Drawing different lines.

How lovely it is,

A flowing maidens hair;

Looking nearly everywhere,

In the sky up there.

How lovely it is,

An intelligent quiz;

Faith and lasting grace,

Smart and clever face.

How lovely it is,

Castles in the air;

A big banquet feast,

The wedding of the lamb.

How lovely it is,

Peaceful paradise mind,

Heavenly place to live,

Brilliant God to give.

How lovely it is,

The universe displayed;

Galaxies and constellations,

Colour glorifying Godliness.

Signed,

Being better.

19 They are There To Look At

They are there to look at,

Hovering, floating in space;

Stars sparkling and spangling,

For every tribe and race.

They are there to look at,

The moon and the sun above;

Careful of the brightness and love,

God's son coming down like a dove.

They are there to look at,

Constellations and galaxies;

Shining like a million days,

Filling up our hearts with joy.

They are there to look at,

From in our hearts and minds;

Truth trying to find how kind,

Stars, planets and sun over the moon.

They are there to look at,

Like women seeing themselves in the mirror;

Men waiting to escort them to the alter,

Simply a marriage made in heaven.

They are there to look at,

Mountains and rivers and plains;

When at night the stars light up the sky,

From us here on earth to God on His throne.

Signed,

Different beauty.

20 Only By Telescope

Somethings you can see in the sky,

Only by telescope though;

Far off places and formations you don't know,

Waiting to be discovered and loved.

Beautiful star patterns with auras,

Making shapes and imaginings;

An asteroid or flying spaceship,

A heavenly passage to bestow.

Some things only by telescope,

Like microorganisms under a microscope;

The challenge is to see what you can't see,

What is truly and simply amazing in life.

Some things only by telescope,

That makes things more intriguing;

Fascinating and incomprehensible,

What appears right in front of your eye.

Some things only by telescope,

Stretched to the ultimate limit;

What is visible to us, is seen only in love,

And to who it matters most, God above.

Some things only by telescope,

Far off distant stars and wonderings;

Of what could only be seen by there or not,

Photos taken of the colours of God.

Signed,

Picture perfect.

CHAPTER 3 HEAVENLY PLANE

21 Rockets

Rockets take off but don't land,

Travelling through space according to plan;

Let's hope that everything works out right,

When they leave earth and are far out of sight.

Rockets blast off with a huge enormous force,

Leaving the earth for the atmosphere of course;

Through heaven and sky to a place of worth,

To the moon or other planets retro burns.

Rockets are built for reaching their destination,

Way out there in space in different directions;

Carrying shuttles or transport to return us to earth,

Astronauts flying into weightlessness for each berth.

Rockets remain in space as junk once they have been used,

Engineers and people making more for each single flight;

They want everything to go and work our right,

With each new attempt a trial of energy and light.

Rockets like pockets of zero gravity and pefection,

Looking into the distance of the dissapearing reflection;

Trying to track and maintain by satelite detection,

It seems just a simple as trying to see it engage and selection.

Rockets mysteriously dissapear well out of sight,

In a universe of space that is full of infinite light;

Things never seen before trying to be discovered by might,

With the rocket going on continually into the eternal night.

Signed,

I'll be back.

22 Space Craft

Space craft taking off and landing,

Heavens planes of discovering grand things;

Flying outside in space past stars and planets,

Space craft mean getting what you grant it.

Space craft lead out into the luna atmosphere,

Looking for constellations and arouras;

Stars shining brightly, flickering in the night,

Seeing coloured lighting, everything just right.

Space craft up to the space station satellite,

Returning after reflection on an astral travelling car;

Trying to find the direction in which to take,

How to travel so far and return to be on earth again.

Space craft flying mightily to head in eternal space,

Some will leave our planet with no more left a trace;

People need food and air for prolonged journies in space,

Trying to be welcomed back into the human race.

Space craft differ for which they were designed and made,

Chasing distant galaxies into which we hope and pace;

As we hope and cope our cause all the way out into space,

Shining in the sun we see God's bright smiling face.

Signed,

When to return.

23 Castle In The Air

A castle in the air,

In the sky in heaven above;

Floating like a resort pontoon,

Rising, shining, over the moon.

A castle in the air,

With a golden pavement;

Going all the way up,

From the gate to the castle.

A castle in the air,

With Pearly gates and a stone wall;

Fenced with a garden surrounding,

Where God sits on His throne.

A castle in the air,

This is the place where good people go;

Bad people are not allowed to come in,

The eternal reward for being faithful to God.

A castle in the air,

The heavenly plane of His majesty;

Rising to meet the occasion gradually,

A choir of angels and a congregation.

A castle in the air,

This is where Jesus lives;

People in righteousness to God,

Loving eternity and nothing is odd.

Signed,

Heavenly places.

24 The Golden Road

The golden road,

Follow the yellow brick road;

On and up to heaven above,

To where God lives in His palace.

The golden road,

Leading people to their home;

Lined with treasures from their earthly rome,

Pavers as rich as heaven itself.

The golden road,

Like crumpets with butter on them;

Melting cheese and pineapple juice,

Heaven is a taste to savour sweet life.

The golden road,

The highway to heaven itself;

Leading people home via the steeple,

Choose the narrow road of life,

Do what is right and not wrong.

The golden road,

As if it were a red carpet;

The golden road leads you home,

To a nice family and good friends.

The golden road,

From St. Peter and the pearly gates;

The the great castle in the sky,

The road to heaven leads you on high.

Signed,

God waiting.

25 Pearly gates

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Will you get in or have to wait;

Jesus the judge will hear your case,

And look upon your humble face.

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Are you righteous because you believe in God?

Or causing trouble and behaving odd,

Those selfish endeavours must go their own way,

You have to have time for God each day.

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Some will get in and some go to hell;

The place in heaven is where all is well,

You dare not trust yourself, for God can tell.

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Guiding, leading there in heavens weight;

Golden paths alone must weigh,

A thousand tonnes of work each day.

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Welcoming you in while others stay outside;

These pearly gates are the door to heaven,

You know God loves whether its twelve or eleven.

St Peter standing at the pearly gates,

Will I be good or have to pay it;

You try to earn your share in there,

But is free from God for those who care.

Signed,

When and where.

26 St Peter

St Peter lives in God's own home,

Welcome those from whence they come;

Weeding out rebels with a fine tooth comb,

Surf is up and dolphins frolick in the foam.

Life is a beach and what heaven is like,

Eternal riches from Gospel teachings on life;

St Peter a fisherman from times of old,

Golden roads and sands of gold.

God is wise and tells us what is good,

Wanting us to be saved, doing what we should;

Going to heaven as we really well could,

For there is no room for sinners, but the good would.

Stay away from torment and hell,

As Simon Peter rings his calling bell;

Preachers say what the Bible is about,

Listen carefully, learn not to doubt.

There is room for you if you believe in Jesus,

St Peter opening his gate and heart to you;

Love the Lord and help yourneighbours,

Fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers.

Hey St Peter you are the rock and key,

To Jesus mind and heart eternally;

God in heaven holds a place for all,

Don't miss out, the price was paid on the cross.

Signed,

God is boss.

27 God's Home In Heaven

God's home in heaven,

Far above the clouds and sky;

Where good people go to die,

Treasures forever over rainbow fly.

God's home in heaven,

A castle and palace built in space;

God smiling down with His heavenly face,

To lead the truth and give us grace.

God's home in heaven,

The loungeroom, kitchen and bedrooms;

Bathroom, dining room and laundry,

Where the work is done to keep things clean.

God's home in heaven,

Food on the table for the heavenly feast;

A banquet fit for a king and priest,

The poor are welcome and sinners pray.

God's home in heaven,

Magestic, glorious, magnificent;

Triumphant, terriffic, territorial,

A mansion by the harbour water.

God's home in heaven,

Waiting, coming, returning for ever;

The glory of His kingdom splendid,

Giving direction, reasons for living and joy.

Signed,

Peace at home.

28 All The Angels

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Serving, flying to take you home;

Air hostesses to take you where your going,

Real time, God is the pilot going there.

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Pouring coffee and tea, giving sandwiches to eat;

A choir of birds could not only rejoice,

But give you your desire from heaven sent.

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Worshipping God at the feet of His throne;

Everything imaginable, what you can own,

When He calls you on the royal telephone.

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Rejoicing gladly at the trumpet sound;

Up in the heavens, heads far above the ground,

The best of British, the United Kingdoms pound.

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Working hard to please and exact;

God's requirement of heaven in tact,

No more death and empty taxes.

All the angels on the heavenly plane,

Reaching for the stars at night;

Eternal riches and eternal life,

Voices so sweet that heaven delights.

Signed,

Hearing voices.

29 Who Gets In, Do You?

Who gets in, Do you?

Have you been good or not?

Have you recieved God's grace?

Do you rejoice in God a lot?

Who gets in, Do you?

Are you going to heaven when you die?

Are you going to live forever in the sky?

Over the rainbow to heaven you fly.

Who gets in, Do you?

Do you believe in Jesus Christ?

Are you saved by redemptions price?

Jesus died for you on the cross.

Who gets in, Do you?

Sorry to those who did not know;

Who have not yet heard or learn't to grow,

God says that everyone will get a chance.

Who gets in, Do you?

Are you living salvations story;

The gospel of God's atoning glory,

Forgiveness along the narrow road of life.

Who gets in, Do you?

Have you repented and found favour in God;

Not relied on yourself and the selfish odd,

Dinner in heaven at the banquet feast.

Signed,

God's grace.

30 Are you there?

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Have you lived life well and kept things clean?

Are you living in heaven or deep despair?

Paradise is the perfect picture of being where.

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Do you have the knowledge of Christ's saving love?

Are you living in a place of the safety from God above?

Do you have food on the table and a bed to sleep in?

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Have you been taken off the streets and heaven restored?

Do you have a family in heaven with parents love?

Have you died to self and read the books on the shelf?

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Do you know the everlasting peace of God?

Are you lost in love or on the streets so odd?

Walk into a church and find the love of God.

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Walking for health reasons and a bit of fresh air;

Living in hope and the peace of prayer,

Committed to God and His ways of care.

Are you there? Have you been redeemed?

Where are you now, Are you in heaven there?

Have you found forgiveness and restoration?

Living in a right relationship with Christ,

God reigning for ever in eternal righteousness.

Signed,

Beating poverty.

CHAPTER 4 MOON MONEY

31 Romantic Fool

I fell in love by the light of the moon,

I am just a romantic fool, What can I say?

Doing life alone, trying to do things my way,

Then she came a long and brightened up my day.

Parsifal on his quest for the holy grail,

Came across a lost damsel along the way;

Sitting by the riverside on a sandy bank under the stars,

The moon streaming down silvery light onto which to pray.

It was not by chance that this fair miss was in my path,

She was not crying but just after a smiling laugh;

God knows that true love is a convenient enchantment,

I the romantic fool was there daring to be her answer.

By the light of the silvery moon we danced all night,

Heaven was the story and paradise the plight;

With two hearts filled with all the glory of love,

The music of the woods and trickling stream from God above.

This romantic fool tried everything he knew to win her heart,

Wooing and cheering her to come back to his village;

Where two hearts could beat as one and get married,

The stakes were high but God was in control.

Everything you wanted to do was just to get involved,

Centre and revolve your life around and for her;

But the romantic fool was tired and tested by the day and way,

But she succumbed and could not resist him and gave into one true love.

Signed,

God's love.

32 Moon On The Water

Moon on the water,

So lovely in endless bliss;

Shining silvery glow and right,

Reflecting off the water bright.

Moon on the water,

Cool refreshing slow moving;

Time for a dip in the river for two,

Romantic lovers sapping up the moonlight.

Moon on the water,

Running into the oceans streaming light;

Moonlight rays coming down in the night,

Soft gentle moonbeams shining so right.

Moon on the water,

Lost in a wonder world of white;

Looking gracefully and loving,

Money from the moon reflecting on the waters light.

Moon on the water,

Sitting there on the oceans horizon away;

Steaming down moonbeams to light the way,

Melting, testing, looking for gentle love.

Moon on the water,

A man and a woman see the moonshining light;

Falling into romantic love while having dinner,

This misty grey day of love lost in their sight.

Signed,

Silver beams.

33 Moon On The River

Moon on the river,

Looking lost and in awe;

Moon beams coming down,

Glowing in silvery ore.

Moon on the river,

Shining, reflecting passing beams;

Refracted rays bent on river curves,

Hitting but missing the heart of the nerve.

Moon on the river,

Wandering, meandering, running true,

Blue moonbeams, happening for you,

Everything motionless, beautiful blue.

Moon on the river,

Being there and done it right,

Forever moonbeams in my face at night,

Soft silvery blue moon light.

Moon on the river,

Winding, worrying, worth womens ways;

Sun shines bright all endless days,

Grey signs as they live and lay.

Moon on the river,

Beautiful, brilliant moon river light;

Things that come to mind to simply write,

Everything in Christ's one true sight.

Signed,

God's money.

34 Moon On The Ocean

Moon on the ocean,

Weighing, balancing, dancing right;

True and lovely shining right,

A belly of water looking bright.

Moon on the ocean,

Shells on the beach from the deep blue;

Washed up to make love to you,

Letters in the sand by night.

Moon on the ocean,

Ships sailing by into the dark;

A sudden word from a passing lark,

BBQ's in the green green park.

Moon on the ocean,

A view of the ocean so fresh and nice;

Flickering, dancing moonlight beams,

Coming to greet us upon the shore.

Moon on the ocean,

Sitting, waiting on the horizon;

Ready to dissapear until tomorrow,

Glow's of silver shining still.

Moon on the ocean,

Reflecting off the tidal empire;

Of once true love, forever endlessly,

Signs of romance two hearts beat.

Signed,

Intertwined.

35 Two Lovers In Love

Two lovers in love,

Under the moonlit sky;

Ever loving, ever true,

Beating like moonlit beams.

Two lovers in love,

Looking up into the heavens;

The moon shining bright like never before,

Hand in hand and kissing quietly.

Two lovers in love,

From endless ages to times gone bye;

Lovers loving and still time to try,

The beauty of looking into each others blue eyes.

Two lovers in love,

The moon hanging all the way down from the sky;

Mingled and making each other to cry,

The love of laughter and smiling high fly.

Two lovers in love,

Forever, endlessly and eternally;

Enjoying each others company,

Sister and brother in God's home bit.

Two lovers in love,

Getting married at last in a church;

From signs gone by that had to be seached,

Now lost together in love for ever more.

Signed,

Faith first.

36 Kissing Under Starlight

Kissing under the starlight,

The moon is shining;

To put you in the setting,

Two lovers falling in love.

Kissing under the starlight,

The meaning is quite simple;

Love and not war for peace,

A man and a woman together.

Kissing under the starlight,

Enjoying the blissful life;

Intertwining and joining,

Kissing under the moonlight.

Kissing under the starlight,

There goes a shooting star;

So quick and goes so far,

Lieing down and looking up above.

Kissing under the starlight,

See the milky way;

The moon at the end of the day,

Till the midnight hour.

Kissing under the starlight,

Lovers falling in love each time;

Love is not sin or crime,

Lost in love in this rhyme.

Signed,

Two together.

37 Kissing Under The Moonlight

Kissing under the moonlight,

The moons shines brightly;

Once upon a time,

Kissing is their crime.

Kissing under the moonlight,

Two lovers falling in love;

Midnight till the dawn,

Near the river on the lawn.

Kissing under the moonlight,

Starey gaze and self important;

All that matters is him and her,

She and he kissing till the morn.

Kissing under the moonlight,

Streaming beams of flowing silver;

Lights the night sky brightly,

Lips meet lips with cuddling arms.

Kissing under the moonlight,

Sun has gone and will come again,

Words of love flowing from my pen,

His the woman of what and when.

Kissing under the moonlight,

Never regret it or stop remembering;

That beautiful memory of intertwining,

Two hearts of love with a sign from God.

Signed,

Eternal memories.

38 Moon On The Harbour

Moon on the harbour,

City skyline gleaming;

Skies seeming clearing,

Reflection off the water.

Moon on the harbour,

Houses line the edges;

Making sense out of fenses,

Bright light beaming over hedges.

Moon on the harbour,

City lights reflecting;

Moonlit beams on the surface,

Water deep and dark forever.

Moon on the harbour,

So it appears during the night;

Moon shining light on the harbour,

Distant dances and glances to savour.

Moon on the harbour,

Look whose looking at you now;

People's smiling faces appear,

Ships coming in, no fear near.

Moon on the harbour,

Dogs howling at the moon;

White light reflections streaming beaming,

sometimes the rain is teaming gleaming.

Signed,

Dark at night.

39 Moon Over The Mountains

Moon over the mountains,

Wolves howling at the moon again;

Dark distant shadows reflecting down,

Showing, glowing and bestowing.

Moon over the mountains,

Misty water mountain lakes,

Moon shining down upon to reflect,

Moon over the mountains,

Waterfalls and glistening fountains;

Pools of moonlit water shining,

Leaves falling in the wind at night.

Moon over the mountains,

Hovering there reflecting upon;

High above the plains down there,

Reflecting on the rivers flowing down.

Moon over the mountains,

Hills and mountain rises,

Roads over the top at night,

The road, the moon and street lights.

Moon over the mountains,

Getting over the other side now,

Dawn is coming moon is still shining,

Silouetted on the distant hills.

Signed,

Shining down upon.

40 Over and Around The Earth

Over and around the earth,

The moon orbits the planet;

Over India and the Ganges,

Niagara Falls and Grand Canyon.

Over and around the earth,

Sundusted Australia and moonlit skies;

Shining down across the plains,

Africa and the Amazon at different times.

Over and around the earth,

The moon flies high over Britain and Europe;

Reflecting white light on the Seine.

Over and around the earth,

Moonlit beams on slivering silver;

On rivers and lakes and ocean waters,

White beams of golden dreams.

Over and around the earth,

Seen from the poles on seldom occasions;

Stars and lights refracting glory,

Still telling the long lost story.

Over and around the earth,

Turning around from night to day;

The moon will stay its wonderful way,

Turning, earning, yearning learning.

Signed,

Schools out.

CHAPTER 5 THE PLANETS

41 Mercury

The closest planet to the sun,

Hot burning lava on the surface;

Red rocks molton, melting centre,

Half way between the earth and the sun.

When the temperature drops or rises,

You can be sure of the heat loss;

Floating, wavering off into the air,

Like the mercury in a thermometer.

Love lies sweet, bleeding at the point,

Where ideas on earth, seem to disjoint;

Hard to imagine so hot to live,

I guess we all have to just give in.

We will never fly or sail off to Mercury,

A place for dieing, not able to live;

Christ lies at the centre of this world,

Hundred of thousand of miles from earth.

The sun its close companion for warmth,

The sun a million degrees hotter though;

With bright warming rays down upon us,

All we can do is look through the telescope.

To see dazzling Mercury floating off on its way,

Revolving around the sun like the other planets;

In the closest orbit in the galaxy however,

Just wondering what type or kind of weather there.

Signed,

Hot out there.

42 Venus

Venus is the love planet for us on earth,

Its quiet warm out there next to mercury;

Miles and miles away from Earth,

Poeple fall in love by its Godess Venus.

The sex symble of man falling in love,

This lost lonely planet, something to see;

Out and inner space next to us in from here,

With us here on Earth on this side of it.ÂÂÂÂÂÂÂÂÂÂ

Venus how lovely, how lovely to see,

Glowing bright dullness for you and me;

We down here still wondering just what is to be,

Venus all knowing and happening for free.

Next time you go out on a date for the night,

Take a look up into the heavens and try to see;

Venus smiling down on you and wishing you well,

Just what falling in love is and if you can tell.

Great is our God and His wife is full of love,

With Venus however there is no push and shove;

Just take a moment to let yourself fall in love,

This venus planet is the Goddess of romantic love.

Signed,

Happy spirit.

42 Earth

What a lovely place where we all are to live,

This happy smiling planet on which is life;

Blue and green from a distance, skies, water and trees,

Sustaining and supporting life for all people on it.

Earth, with its mountains, rivers and lakes,

Blue water oceans and seas, make no mistake;

Cities and a population of eight billion people,

All working together for the good of each other.

Wide open plains and roads going everywhere,

Connecting its places, because people will care;

Breathing in a breath of lovely fresh air,

Knowing you are alive and living for God.

Kindness in the air as you learn how to care,

Goodness forever, living loving in eternal prayer;

The earth is our home forever and ever,

Houses being built and now nearly anywhere.

Farming land and orchards, places by the sea,

Harmony and peacefullness, a blessing for me;

Joy to behold and grace to be having,

This planet earth is a place of happening.

Still theres work to be done and to be happy,

Environmental concerns and ecological security;

Ancient ruins and erosion and heavenly clouds,

This place our world is great here on earth.

Signed,

The moon goes around it.

43 Mars

Red dust and green men,

This our next door neighbour;

On the other side from the sun,

Between earth and Jupiter.

This colourful universe,

Gives us heart to travel;

Trying to discover if Mars,

Will sustain other life.

With rockets and spaceships,

Exploring satellites and cameras;

We hope to discover if Mars,

Will one support people from Earth.

Some tests say they have found water on Mars,

Ice particles frozen and cold out there;

Love growing older as we seek out more,

Knowledge of what it is like on Mars.

So far from the sun, life hard to sustain,

Why should we care, we are happy here;

But the light reflects red particles off the dust there,

Like our deserts in which we can compare.

God knows honestly, just what it is like,

Distant awareness of what can possibly happen there;

Still we all love our friends from Mars,

Cute little green men and aliens there.

Signed,

Why complain.

45 Jupiter

Jupiter is the biggest planet our universe,

One of the giants of our galaxy, just waiting to happen;

Twenty times the size of its next biggest contender,

Saturn another giant like it, all gaseous, hydrogen and helium .

This is the mother of all planets of our solar system,

None others really compare to the size of this giant;

It is like a semitrailer in comparison to a match box car as Earth,

I guess we will all just to have to try to live with it.

Some say with a grin, this is just happening splendour,

To big to imagine and we must just accept and render;

Graced by its greatness, to let life here exist to be lived,

Our hearts softened with sadness that makes us tender.

God give us strength to understand as to be wise,

We are dwarfed by its presence on earth through the skies;

Way out there in its magnitude, here we are safe,

But get too close to it and you will be sucked in and be squashed.

It has a huge magnificent gravity, too strong to get close to it,

It has its own moons, orbiting its mighty big evolving self;

One day it will happen it will be hard rock, a million years away,

Whether its possible for us to know why and how great it really is.

Signed,

Great Giant.

46 Saturn

Saturn with its rings around it,

Sixth planet from the sun;

Another gaseous giant,

Mainly hydrogen and helium.

A Jovian planet like Jupiter,

With a gaseous atmosphere;

Beautiful to look at,

An extreme work of art.

Saturn also has its own moons,

With water particles in its rings;

Reflecting light to give off colours,

Pretty rings of light to look at.

Gorgeous reigning rings of love,

Giving to us from God above;

Who sits in the heavens and looks down,

Wearing crown and gown with frown for a town.

Please squeeze in their you heavenly body,

Between Jupiter and Unranus;

Miles and miles of empty space,

Thought of mercy and endless grace.

Signed,

Pretty Planet.

47 Uranus

You reign over us from a distance,

Like God raining on the plains;

The trains and the planes will never get there,

A rocket might just to have a look.

Like a beach in the Antarctic somewhere,

Or running on a polar solar cap;

I reckon I am just guessing what it is like,

Not too sure whether it can support life.

The weather there would be gigantic,

A continual storm of arctic conditions;

Masses of water vapour floating around,

On a frozen sea or lake of oceans size.

This beautiful blue planet like Neptune,

A big ball of blue just glowing and blooming;

With maybe a continental shift of glaciers,

Moving and improving and staying the same.

Imagine this giant of a planet eating,

A prayer or two for the listeners;

Consuming, demolishing anything near it,

With massive gravity pull around.

I don't think that there would be any fish,

Under the surface of its watery cover;

Not supporting or sustaining life at all,

Despite the H₂O, hydrogen and oxygen there.

Signed,

Wish for a dish.

48 Neptune

Neptune the God King of the Seas,

Like Poseidon or The Vikings on Ships;

Sailing around the universe out there in space,

This gaseous giant planet is full of grace.

Neptune with his trident, ready to strike,

Like Bibles and bikes, ride it right;

The eighth planet from the sun in orbit,

In between Uranus and Pluto.

Neptune is a planet just waiting to be seen,

Out there in the galaxies created scene;

This is a gas giant if ice and nitrogen,

Like its neighbour Unranus next door.

With its blue like appearance from frozen water,

The sky and sea are mirrored together;

The love of God is a heavenly planet,

Reigning over us from His thrown.

Neptune you beautiful fighter striking near,

In resemblance to a mighty warrier;

The terrific tragedy of distance,

I guess we'll just never know what it is like.

Signed,

Sailing ships.ÂÂÂÂÂÂÂÂ

49 Pluto

Pluto, Bluto, you stupid pup,

Dog gone it, I 'm gone again;

Battered frankfurt on a stick,

With tomato sauce of course.

Nineth from the sun,

Second smallest of planets;

Rotating in its far swinging orbit,

Way out there in the galaxy somewhere.

Ok sun can you still shine,

Is there any light out there;

Just enough for a red glow,

Too far and hard to see to know.

Love for this cartoon character though,

Dagwood dog or snoopy;

Cousins in the show,

Big Goofy foot shadow.

Pluto a Greek word for a God,

A sign on some far horizon;

Bearing the hearing to stay,

The sweat of the brow for another day.

Romantic or plutonic relationship,

Madening or disheartening;

Love has many a change of face,

Pluto's mate staring him in the face.

Signed,

Out there.

50 Aries

The zodiac sign of the ram,

Also the tenth planet in our galaxy;

On the edge of the solar system,

Only recently discovered however.

So far out, so hard to see,

We can only imagine it is really there;

Astronomers say that it is real,

That they have seen it and believe it is there.

Perfect sign on the ran complete,

Ten the perfect number, no receipt;

There may be another one out there somewhere,

No discovered yet for number eleven.

This is the smallest of all our planets,

Hardest to see by size and distance;

Aries minute and yet bigger than our moon,

Just waiting for someone else to see it soon.

Can't just get my mind around it just yet,

But I'll bet there is something about it to get;

Trying to let your heart beat out and see,

What this little beauty is trying to be.

Would we ever get close travelling in space,

A mighty quest for the whole human race;

Brilliant as it is just staying in its place.

Signed,

Blue glow.

CHAPTER 6 GALAXIES AND SOLAR SYSTEMS

51 The Milky Way

Up there in the sky above,

Stars are twinkling lights of love;

The milky way a cloud of cream,

Ever present living dream.

Like a row of colour splendour,

Of broad and facinating wonder;

Imagining the lights of God,

Flickering, shining there in heaven.

Running in a widening line;

Spread across the broad horizon,

Flashing in a line of glowing;

Trouble to remember knowing,

Stars adding together and growing.

Can you believe that there is no end,

Sitting quietly with a freind;

For the turmoils of life to try and mend,

Too far a way for a rocket to send.

Never mind your present difficulties,

Sit back and take a good look;

Stare into this place in space,

The milky way is a loving grace.

What could possibly bother you on earth,

The stars in heaven a second birth;

Beauty beyond a child's vision,

Precision for a decision provision.

Signed,

Spreadout wonder.

52 Light Years Away

A distance too far away to imagine,

Light years of time your destination;

At the end of the road to eternity,

Sitting right at the edge of infinity.

Light years away, across in space,

Staring right at the face of God;

So distant, so hard to get to there,

Wondering if we ever would.

The distance light travels in a year,

Billions of miles we never knew;

Far from the smiling faces we grew,

In the deep dark space away from you.

I cannot tell what is out there,

Too far away in which to compare;

Here on earth we have a prayer,

That God would guide us in His care.

Planets and stars right in between,

The suns light only shining so far to win;

Into other galaxies out there,

The universe living on without any end.

Light years away, better off doing the dishes,

That God would answer our willful wishes;

To understand what is really out there,

Other worlds of life in which we where.

Signed,

Distant places.

53 A Different Universe

A different universe from which it was,

Stars forming and creating over time;

Planets evolving over billions of years,

Unknown to us just what appears.

A different universe of worlds away,

Life is different each and every day;

As we discover new things in time,

Constellations and nebulas there in space.

The earth the only planet to enhabit life,

As far as we know it, in what we have seen;

So far this is really all we have,

The rest of the universe waiting to tell.

A different universe from which we already know,

Looking for places from in which we can grow;

That if we ever could go and stay in flow,

As we sit under the stars our eyes we throw.

A different universe seeing from where we stand,

As seemingly know other place in which to land;

We really don't know how big and how much,

If we could ever get off earth to stardust touch.

I think that I would rather stay home and have lunch,

Where food grows in time for us all here to eat;

Satisfying my cravings and selfish desires,

Life is here, but still I wonder if it is there.

Signed,

Restaurant atmosphere.

54 University Students

In the quest for truth and knowledge,

To see just what the universe will bring;

Studying to seek and find out what is there,

What is hidden in the skies beyond.

University students learning to get a degree,

To graduate and get a job in this big wide world;

Get a house and make a home for a family,

Wondering just what is beyond us here on earth.

The search for the God of heaven above,

Trying to find contentment and what is God's love;

A nice meal out or cooked in the kitchen at home,

Striving and seeking out just what might or could be.

Well if you ask me just what do I see,

I see a community of people working for free;

To earn the right of the labour of love,

To pay the price for which of those things you want.

Learning to be an astronomer is an idea,

The see the stars in the sky both far and near;

The universe wanting people to search and see,

All the amazing gifts and things we know as free.

University students trying to uncover the truth,

Of what the universe holds as all living proof;

Stabily maintaining those things under your roof,

Stepping outside stargazing and walking back into your room.

Signed,

Wondering what is.

55 Astronomy

Learning to study the stars and lights,

Heavens gaze into the dark of night;

Just what you see and then therefore can write,

The universe holding and sitting there right.

Imagine a million stars that burn so bright,

Silvery and golden shining lights;

Coloured images of constellations way out there,

Striving to look and see just where they are.

Nebulas and galaxies from the back of your mind,

Entering into the thought process in which you find;

Wondering if the idea of things are being just kind,

Then getting back to earth and stuck in the grind.

Astronomical circles of truth and love,

God sitting there waiting in heaven above;

What we will discover from working out what is there,

How we can see it and even get to find our way there.

Astronomy a way to search out our future,

A world lies waiting far beyond all here on earth;

Learning to live with what we can't change,

Accepting the difference of what is unknown.

A miracle mile of work still to be done,

The challenge to discover things from out of town;

What lies waiting and hidden below the ground,

Or what is dwelling millions of miles beyond what we are seeing.

Astronomy an astronomer's dream come true,

To find the love left between me and you;

The beauty of creation still happening true,

The sun still shining through a sky of blue.

Signed,

Work that one out.

56 The Hubble Telescope

The hubble telescope and many others,

Gather information from space;

Like a bubble blanket surrounding us,

We stare out into space wondering what is there.

Tracing the movement of planets and stars,

Distant galaxies racing and waiting like cars;

The beauty of creation, an astounding thing,

Glorious beauty being surrounded by everything.

Picking up places for far distant space,

Our place in the atmosphere for the human race;

Nebulas and constellations a perfect sight,

Brought close up and centre for all our delight.

The hublle telescope, magnifying things way out,

Far off into distant space brought up and made close;

Stars twinkling brightly like my daily pill dose,

A world out there waiting for us to draw near.

Beautiful colours of star clusters clear,

Drawing us onward and upward to places held dear;

Worrying about a conclusion of space everywhere,

Star dusted mountains in the sky way out there.

God holds a place in everyones dear heart,

Us wondering what is out there, that God told from years before;

Granting our wishes to see by telescope seeing out there,

I guess we will just have to live with His graces till we get just where.

Signed,

Seeing space closer.

57 Chance a Glance

Chance a glance to see and hope,

Star clusters and constellations there;

Right there is the distance we cope,

An array of stars scattered across space.

Chance a glance to see and hope,

What a beauty to see and admire;

God's handywork displayed for all to see,

I know He did it, I am no dope.

Chance a glance to see and hope,

God bless you everywhere as you struggle to see;

Beauty of creation happening out there for free,

Like life on earth as a slow growing tree.

Chance a glance to see and hope,

Maybe you will see a shooting star;

Driving at night time in your car,

Or the beauty of the milky way from behind bars.

Chance a glance to see and hope,

Great is Jehovah, God of all things;

Stars celebrating and planets with there moons and rings,

Right out there waiting in all and each bit of time.

Chance a glance to see and hope,

Sit on a sandy beach at night and just look up;

An awesome array of the starey host above,

It is the beautiful creation of a God of love.

Signed,

Starey starey night.

58 Stars and Constellations

Stars and constellations upÂÂÂ there in the sky,

What the hell do you see out of your eye;

Your looking but we don't see eye to eye,

I want to go to see God in heaven when I die.

Stars and constellations up thereÂÂÂÂ in the sky,

What can you imagine more beautiful than this;

Giving all the stars a hug and a kiss,

Sharing God's creation with the people of His.

Stars and constellations upÂÂÂÂ there in the sky,

Like the zodiac constellations and ten planets above;

The stars sparkle and flicker in this place of love,

Covering and smothering us with a blanket of light.

Stars and constellations up thereÂÂÂÂ in the sky,

Life is a transaction of starlight delight;

Waiting and honouring those who do right,

I like to listen and I like to write.

Stars and constellations up there in the sky,

God holds a place for us in His heaven;

Drifting off from place to place on earth,

Born to be useful from creation and birth.

Stars and constellations up there in the sky,

Brightly shining and holding the key to the universe;

Like the seas and the oceans here on the earth,

Leading us higher to wisdom and knowledge.

Signed,

God out there.

59 Infinite Space

Infinite space, way out there,

Beyond what you can see;

As it just goes on forever,

Into eternity and endlessly.

Infinite space, way out there,

There is no limit to the end of space;

It never stops, but just keeps on going,

Never stopping but continuing infinitely.

Infinite space, way out there,

We can't imagine what this is like;

It is hard to get our tiny minds around this,

As the earth is finite with a certain end.

Infinite space, way out there,

Trying to fathom the edge of space;

But there is no end and we can't see it,

Isn't it really a beautiful picture of endlessness.

Infinite space, way out there,

Behold the truth hits home hard;

Sorry to people who have no faith in God,

Transporting the mind to a place too far to know.

Infinite space, way out there,

Getting your thoughts together to compare;

Trying to understand just what is out there,

A place to far to just know where.

Signed,

Unknown space.

60 Everything Else

Everything else, just what it is,

Wondering what we can't understand;

What you can't see is beyond the mind,

Everything else beyond all else.

Everything else, just what it is,

The universe as big as it is;

Going on forever, forever endlessly,

We know the stars and planets;

But space is a nothingness that goes on forever,

The atmosphere continuing infinitely.

Everything else, just what it is,

There must be billions of planets and other stars out there;

Going on forever with no question where,

We can't fathom or comprehend how big it is.

Everything else, just what it is,

We only really know what is on earth;

The rest is left up to God to slowly let us in on,

Stars and constellations going on forever.

Everything else, just what it is,

What do you get when you have got where you are going;

At least you have something and can understand what it is,

The universe is infinite though and there is no finish.

Everything else, just what it is,

I guess there is more than a zillion things we will never put a number on;

Or see beyond the heavens to every other place unknown,

I reckon that it is best just to be thankful for what we have got.

Signed,

God's spirit.

FINAL WORD

Atmosphere

Right out there in the world of the unknown and yet defined universe there is another place for us to live. We don't know it yet and probably none of us will ever see it in our lifetime. We don't have the technology to travel that far yet and we are not able to think of how we can either now. Nevertheless saying that we have come to the end of our interplanetary space travel and are left with the dilemma of how to make these writings an everyday exploration of interplanetary travel. Now we return to earth from the atmosphere out there, where we still have only touched the edge of time. I guess that we will just have to satisfy our minds that at least we can try and understand the difference between living here on earth and the possibility of living on another planet somewhere way out there in the sometime distant in the future. I hope that you might have seen some of the created ideas that were looked and formed across the scope of this book, Over The Moon. That you can fix the puzzle in your own mind of an infinite space and the love that we can have trying to find the end now, while living in the love and passion of each other here on earth now under that romantic ball of stardust, that we call the moon. The atmosphere of a dinner at a restaurant with your lover is or can be more fulfilling than all the space exploration that you try to imagine. At least you have some money to know where your next meal is coming from and that you don't have to plant vegetables on another planet to try and live to survive way out there somewhere. The atmosphere can also be rolled up at night with a good book like this one, I hope that sets your heart and mind on the things of God, that he will and can meet all your expectations and fulfillments in this life however long or short and sweet it is. Well that has been it, we have left planet earth for at least a part of the time, even if it has only been in principle only. I trust that you enjoyed reading Parsifal Over The Moon or at least have come along for the ride reading it as I have been writing it. The thirty day orbit of the moon around the earth is enough to give us our months and ideas of money and what we can do with it. God Bless you in your future endeavours to travel as far as you can and may you get ready and set to come along for the next book as I write it, Parsifal A Knights Life as we go back in time instead of heading for the future. Try and live for the moment, really it is all we all really have. God Bless. Darel.
