

Formalities are the formalization of truth and logic,
With patient persistence in the caring operation;
Of what might have been coming into fruition,
It is the necessary acknowledgement of correct understanding.

It is recognizing the acceptance of the way things were done,
Proceeding into recognition for the path to take;
In making the way clear from that which has been,
In order to authorize those who were committed.

When the time is ripe and wind current.
We recognize those who have achieved to make things different.
Those who paved the way and changed things for the better,
Those who laid the foundations for the road we now follow.

Recognition is showing gratitude to those who have overcome,
Who fought and made a new world for all of us to live in;
For those who maintained and accepted the right way to do things,
For those who changed the place for the better of us all.

We recognise the soldiers who came back from the war,
And for those who didn't but fought for what freedom is for;
For those who lived a long and hard life enduring to the end,
For those who invented things and helped the world progress.

So now as we formalize the traditions laid down by us all,
We accept the terms and conditions from the right set of ways;
We pay tribute to those who lead and guided us along the way,
Who discovered new lands from where they did explore.

Signed,

Well done achievers.
