

I lost a few things,
I could not find;
I had no luck,
I was going out of my mind.

I wondered where they had gone astray,
In fact I looked for them all day;
I turned away in dismal care,
I looked and looked but they were not there,

Now if you dare to worry about this,
And look and find them I'll give you a kiss;
I understood they must be around,
But where they were they couldn't be found.

But at the end of the day all went well,
I found the thing and got out of hell;
So if you're lost, if there's something you lose,
Wait till the things appear and then that will amuse.
