What's mine is mine and what's yours is yours,
The mind of the matter is what's mined in ores;
If keeping my mind on the money it goes elsewhere,
But with a selfish ambition it does not go anywhere.
•
It's good to develop a beautiful mind with respect,
Of all the pages you have read and what you reject;
Christ had a brilliant mind in the genius of the Bible,
And now you have to pick whether you able or liable.
•
It's not always possible to keep your mind on the job,

With motivation and love your heart will still throb;
It could be a case for the mind of life over death,
Where the weather can just overwhelm your breath.
With the mind it's a passion of making what you can,
In working or romance in accordance with the plan;
The mind is like a bubble which surrounds the brain,
In which it incorporates ideas like whether the rain.
I think I'd go crazy with the mind outside of me,
With the certainty of insanity and not being free;
I must remember requirements of my mind to others,

For the good of the family with fathers and mothers.
•
With two different minds there will be disagreement,
To argue the point of conflict for the discernment;
Really heaven and hell are in the heart of the mind,
Or you can go on to paradise where you can find kind.

Signed,
I want to keep it.
