

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

From the sound of a dove, a birds sweet word;

To the mighty majestic mountains above us all,

Down to the babies cry who is so small.

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

From the planets to the people who do the work;

To a river across a plain so wide and sparse,

Like a crystal sea or an ocean of glass.

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

From the sun shining down to reflect on water;

To the city and buildings in the valley of death,

Or the one hanging on to life's last final breath.

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

Where the earth's in space and we are all worth;

To the music and instruments that mean so nice,

As the songs and tunes all sing twice or thrice.

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

From the heart of man into the arms of a woman;

The joy and passion that both can feel,

A peace and love that is to them more than real.

Love is the greatest in all of the world,

To be better than the best in all that would;

Love is the greatest in all of the earth,

From life to death since the souls first birth.

Signed,

Beautiful, Brilliant Mind.
