

I guess if provocation is providing a vocation it's probably good,

For the proverbial grammar and spelling to write what I should;

With the adjectives and nouns and verbs to prove the alliteration,

The Parsifal provocation is the challenge to read and lead a nation.

So providing the athlete has acrobatic and aeronautical aviation,

The engineering of the sentence is to fly and gauge the station;

For the plane and train together are plainly simply difficult,

As the games begin to approach and to swim the channel is different.

Now the music to my ears is the birds words as the plane sounds,

And that's a challenge in itself to distinguish and discern the pounds;

For the provocation to listen depends on which voice made the noise,

And I have to watch closely to see television via satellite to rejoice.

So to perform at peak performance one must try the hardest best,

For the correction metaphoric pronunciation of provocation is the test;

And the distinction you are hearing is here and when, where why,

For the need of application to find the grail is provocation to die.

For the engines like the heart and the brain is like the mind,

And it's better to be humble and gentle like a kitten to be kind;

So the skill in teaching children is the provocation not to kill,

For the winning of the money is in the life or death and thrill.

But my words go down in poetry and there a good legal system,

To catch and punish offenders who have provocation aside of them;

And the ability to learn and read is rewarded publishing education,

For each sin has a degree and the judge a court to station.

Signed,

Catch me if you can