

Being wrong and doing write is knowing left from right,

Because writing wrong is righting write and being wrong delights;

So when it was doing right and being written it was really right to do,

And to do it right we know we have to write and get it left and wrong.

So we knew what to do and how do you do, I think I got it right,

From being written to righting written it was always doing write;

And we know that doing right while being written is sitting sinning write,

Now if you're doing written sitting being wrong you're really very right.

Being wrong and doing write stems from going well into the night,

And the night life change colour like coloured lights as I'm doing write;

So being wrong and writing write, rights right from light to night,

So last night tonight was right last night as I write through all the night.

So the night was right to write the light who turns out to be the knight,

When being wrong and doing write you are actually being right to right;

So for how long I'm being wrong is right to write all right,

As the right to right the write of knight is being light at night.

And if you think that's being wrong you really have been doing write,

But when it's written from doing right it's writing being wrong;

For so long I write how long I write from left to right to write,

And it's wrong and right from being write to doing being wrong.

Well if you're right or wrong with that you're eight to wrote it wrong,

For when you're right from wrong and write you're right to belong;

And being long is being wrong when you write for so much money,

And that is being the right of it and you'll think the price is funny.

Signed,

Wrong Honey