

I was being wrong and really needed a reason to write,

Because what I seemed to be doing was wrong and I needed to right;

And to write right what was written was really wrong to write,

For the right of all the written was wrong but must be written right.

Being the wrong myself and written I had to write it right,

Because the written was really written Britain really right;

And I had to write the right which was really written very right,

And that was being wrong because Britain is always being right.

But if Britain is being wrong they were wrote right by doing write,

And it was wrong doing write because being right is not doing right;

And if doing right is wrong and you are doing write to right,

Then you are right in what you are doing by doing writing write.

Now if Britain was doing writing write everything would be right,

But we know we are always wrong and have to have written all things right;

But the law of being right and writing as you write to right,

Is the best of British bright when you write at night with light.

So I guess you know what I mean being wrong but doing things right,

For being the wrong is enough reason to write the things so right;

And if the right is wrong then write the right not to be wrong,

For when you're wrong it takes the right to write and then be long.

Now if you take too long to write the wrong you will end up poor,

Being the wrong, write tonight that you might learn the right poor;

For when the paw is on the page from the pen in your hand,

Remember that the right report was used to write wrong right.

Signed,

I wrote the wrong right