

A different way doesn't have to be a better way,

But the different way gives meaning to all the day;

And the best way to be different is individual thought,

As long as you think of the thing just the way you ought.

.

A different way is a kind of way that helps people see the new,

When all the possibilities are extinguished and known as true;

A different way is another way to express yourself in verse,

In which you learn to speak fluently, orally written to converse.

.

And the thoughts go down on paper in silent voice of mind,

As you trust and put your money where it's nice or being kind;

And the beauty of the reason for the different way to do,

Is that it's brilliantly translated to many and a few.

.

But the best is yet to come as it all happens differently to,

The people who try and venture for life to eventuate all through;

And the picture and the painting are again a different point of view,

As the brush in its creation paints different coloured hue.

.

The magic is in the imagination as people think and turn,

So the thing is recreation and a better way to learn;

We need the faith of which nature is abstract and a bit strange,

That the technological advancement is intelligence to change.

.

So a better way to do it has to be a different way again,

As words go down on paper and the people rewrite it with a pen;

For their constant consideration is a memory worth the keep,

And we can't afford to neglect that a horse is not a sheep.

.

Signed,

The Betterment of Society.