

There is one love in life that means something forever,
It is a love with a bond that can't break between two persons;
Two persons very must in love as a husband and wife in marriage,
A marriage that is something that will last forever and never break.

Something forever is the love you will make with this very special partner,
Someone you cherish and who loves you back with undying ceaseless envy;
It's a beautiful thing which is really and truly something forever,
Something that will last forever with a betrayal and perfect ending.

As the time in the middle of a marriage relationship in heaven,
Is something that is forever the weather that God has the heart and lead forever,
A love that will last forever is something ordained by God eternally,
That the beat in life will never stop and God do all the created leading.

It is really an indeed situation where circumstances are perfectly accounted,
And the Christ like relationship of the God head is silently perfected;
Something forever is like writing a poem with time on your hands to go by,
And it comes off the top of your head in a sweet flowing lullaby.

So to sum up this rendition of true love and come to an end of this poem,
A poem call something forever that really has no end but leads to Rome;
Where the heart is a free love tied together permanently forever and ever,
And to conclude this sure thing of something forever it is blossoms never ending.
