

When god made man well what did he think,
With real life and blood and even to stink;
But survey there's more than it's man himself,
For he's in God's image now get off the shelf.

Nature is something that all hearts go out to,
To believe in what's right and such things to come true;
So where do we stand on the earth and ground,
As slowly in nature the world must go round.

Nature is good but do not let be worshipped,
For God will create what's meat to be nurtured;
Naturalism means that we are bound by our birth,
Without salvation or greatness or need to be worth.

But laugh not shallow at this look at our past,
For deep is the verdict of what must come last;
I hope that you might find your desire,
But if my hearts for nature I think I'll retire.
