

The property of love is always at a constant,
Deep in the meaning of the ever living moment;
The atomic structure of water is ever leading life,
The evaporation and condensation of ever raining right.

And the brilliance and the beauty of the sun shining through the blue,
Is the awareness and the knowing of God's love reigning true;
And it's not so very wrong to see and understand,
The property of love and its survival of the lands.

The property of love s found in the heart of people,
Who receive the truth and knowledge of the forgiveness of their sins;
And when we turn to Jesus he sees and comprehends,
The needs and different requirements in which our love depends.

The property of love and faith and hope and truth,
Is always and forever will always be fair and proof;
And is perfect anticipation of what is yet to come,
It is discovered after waiting so long for the unaware some.

For the property of love is giving from the heart,
To fulfill the need of plenty and supply the lonesome part;
And there's no hope of ending up in dismal state of mind,
Because the property of love is perfectly loving and kind.

The property of love is still left to be desired,
Ad taught and learnt by those who have enough required;
For the property of love property loving God,
That we find the heart of peace when we turn from young to old.

Signed,

It all evens out
