

What's done can be done,
What's not done is different;
You can do what you want to do,
But can't easily do what hasn't been done.

You try to do what you can do,
But what's not done that's is to do;
And what can't be done you have to do,
So what you've done that you do.

What you haven't done you can do,
And what couldn't be done you have to do;
If you can't do someone has done,
And what's done without you you can't do.

It's hard to do what hasn't been done,
But fun to try to do what you can't;
Well now what's not done you have to do it,
Because what's been done has really gone through it.

Who can do all that's to be done
Can god do anything without any one;
Can you do something with what's to be done,
Have you done something you can't do

When it's all said and done that will do,
Do what you can so you have done something;
What you can't do leave for someone,
And what they want done will be done too.

So if you want anything done do it yourself,
If you can't do, read all those books on the shelf;

If you can't read all the books see what can be done,
So that what you do is now done a new.

Signed,

Well I'm now done
