

Jams and biscuits,
And hone and cream;
Are sweet and nice,
And sweet enough for me.

Sugar and chocolate,
And ice cream and cake;
Are beautifully nice,
And sweet enough to make.

There's lollies and caramel,
And toffees and tea;
With a selection of sweets,
You can't let them be.

There's many a topping or,
Or coconut ice;
Or ice blocks or ice creams,
Sweet enough and so nice.

Then there's pastries and cupcakes,
And chocolate cars;
All these are sweet enough,
To turn you into stars.

So what then if ever,
Could I want to eat;
Sa long as it wasn't too sweet,
Just sweet enough to eat.

Signed,

Two thinly
