

So how have we traveled this road thus far,
Are we enlightened as we follow the loan star;
Christ was born that all men might live,
And it is in the grace of God, which we all must give.

This path we follow is not traveled alone,
But with a guide so holy he is in every home;
So now as I look to the sky high above,
The sun shines down in the rays of his love.

My heart and my head seem to be on the same plane,
But every muscle cries out in love, joy and pain;
For it this love of God in which I concentrate,
In anticipation that one day I will see and congregate.

So enlightenment is and by the right we should stand,
As enlightenment provides us the dream in this land;
I must not fear for what is to come,
But in heaven we'll wait for our earned earth born sum.
