

Some day to be positive that's always the way,
Maybe we are negative and seem to only pay;
Attitudes you see are part of our life,
And usually keep us from, or get us into strife.

The worlds a funny thing as it turns itself round,
With only God's blessing of a small piece of ground;
But what makes our mind reason as it so does,
Ad gives us that personal kind of sensational buzz.

Attitudes are more than just understanding relationships,
They really consist of our souls, as our the nations shifts;
Likes stars in the morning have burnt overnight,
Attitudes are passing phases that seem to work out alright.

As a ship fades into the endless horizon,
Time gauges a course to direct our arising;
As morning becomes day and the night has not gone passed,
There is another attitude that's shown its past.
