

The constitution is out of the question because I needed stamina,

And strength and fitness to maintain it to properly constitute it;

Now there's dexterity and charisma which are really great attributes,

And characteristics that make the constitution last as long as it contributes.

I did want to change the whole thing and tear it to pieces,

To re-arrange it properly and redesign it so it all teaches andÂ reaches;

To give it a complete overhaul and make it perfectly simple,

As the law has a way of twisting it into meaningless sinfulness.

The constitution we all take for granted is designed to help,

To really work for all so as to cancel any urgent yelp;

But the depth and the reality is a wonder to know,

That it's really so deep to learn and quite hard to show.

Now we grow and develop right across the whole country,

As the laws changes and are past to distinguish the government.

For the passion or arguing and debating to state the case,

Leaves us all in bewilderment and the leaders lose face.

Now it's a race to the end that you start at the beginning,

When the lands claimed and discovered and federation begging;

For how beautiful and brilliant are the documents signed,

But nearly all wasted time in effort for rubbish bin crimes.

So the constitution is the rules and regulations of the land,

When law and order is needed for all writing at hand;

And it's plain to see why it's all really black and white to me,

As day turns to night and I imagine all that I see.
