

In every situation there is a compromising solution,

A way of deciding and working out the right resolution;

It's a pattern and process of seeing the best possible outcome,

So to be avoiding the negatives and being able to doubt some.

.

Compromising might be winning or losing or settling on a difference,

But it is better to go each way and agree on equal experience;

For the result isÂ in the settlement on the two ideas ofÂ both being even,

When one gives the acceptance and the other initiates believing.

.

And I suppose there is some kind of care for all of the indifference,

For when things are mutually agreed, the compromise gains the benefits;

Now if you want to get on with it and not demand your own way,

There is mutual admiration in the compromise throughout all the years and day.

.

Then sometimes you need an arbitrator to reconcile and decide,

What is best for both two parties and what both can keep to reside;

Now forget not all the benefits on suiting for someone else,

But remember the advantage on settling for the same idea yourself.

.

I think I must now consider on what will work out best for me,

When I want to win the situation but must give and take to be;

For if I gain more than the other that is not best for we,

But the average capitalization works out evenly for people to see.

.

I am not the only one who must trust and abide by this law,

For the advantage of being the winner is ending up with the highest score;

For when you agree to compromise nearly everyone can gain,

But when nobody wants to compromise, thenÂ everyoneÂ for the loser remain.

.

Signed

How can things be even?